The general public, not to speak of the christian church, had a nothing the church, had a nothing to say of the hunright to expect something more explicit, dreds of millions of dollars of debt made something more satisfactory and definiin the south by these scoundrels and tive. The inquiry was begun at Mr. pocketed by them; it has nothing to say Rescher's request, and the committee of the Davenports who confess that they were of his appointment, and it now see in the civil rights bill an avenue to BROOKS' PRESSseems, and has been charged with miscegenation, nor the Williamsons the design of raising a dust under cover of who threaten to have civil rights even which the great preacher could the betthough they have to ride to their bridleter escape detection. He challenged bits in blood. There is no word of all Tilton in a spirit of bravado, seemingly the spoliation, robbery, murder and arunprepared for the lucid, clear and wellson the south has had to endure since connected statement of the man be had 1865; there is no summary of the lordly wronged, under a conviction, perhaps, superciliousness of the negro, or of his that his great reputation as a public persistent, ignorant and dogmatic oppoman, and his character as the first minsition to his former owner, and not one ister of the gospel, in point of ability at word of the almost terror inspired by the least, would overbalance and outweigh possible passage of the civil rights enorall that might be said against him, esmity, with all its train of evils, includpecially before a committee organized to ing, and worst of all, mixed schools. whitewash, and with every member With the Herald, as with the Tribune, of which it was a foregone conclusion the negro is still the pet, the "ward of that Tilton was either demented or a the nation," neither caring a continentscoundrel all over." First through al dam if the white men are tortured that meddlesome old granny, Dr. Bacon, and finally of binnelf, the loud-soundthat our social life is endangered, ing challeoge and defiance of Tilton went forth, and all Congregationalism and our commercial and other pursuits threatened with destruction. Years shouted, and the New York and some of the Brooklyn papers forthwith comlecture us upon the vanity of a public menced a course of vindictive persecuschool system, asserting, as was true, tion of the man whose wife he had dethat until we had such as would equal banched, as if he was the person put on that of more favored States, we could not trial before the public, and not Beecher. The great preacher had everything expect anything like steady immigration. Now that we have one almost perhis own way until Tilton made feet, they are determined upon its dehis statement, incorporating in it the struction, and equally bent upon the deatters of his wife and of Beecher, which, struction of our interests through this to every candid and unbiased mind, carry conviction of their adulterous interthe old relentless spirit of abolitionism, ourse.
